

PICTURED LAST NIGHT as they walked the long, cold mile from East Stroudsburg High school to Seventh and Main Sts., Stroudsburg, in the annual Halloween parade are a few of the costumed marchers who amused thousands of spectators along the route. Marchers were both adults and children, bands, drum majorettes, women's auxiliaries, and outlandish creatures in zany suits representing history's best, worst and funniest characters. Prizes were given for best costumes. Crowds thronged the main streets of both boroughs for the spectacle, trailed along behind to see the awards made. (Daily Record photos)

Negotiators Draw Closer To Agreement

Munsan, Korea, Thursday, (AP)—Allied and Communist truce negotiators yesterday drew closer to agreement than ever before on a buffer zone across Korea, but the status of Red-held Kaesong blocked speedy settlement of this issue.

The Communists made a major concession Wednesday, abandoning demands for a line from five to 15 miles south of the battlefield. They proposed a buffer zone which approached that asked by the Allies.

But the Reds wanted to keep Kaesong, site of the futile first cease-fire talks. The United Nations command considered Kaesong essential to guard the military approaches to Seoul, 34 air miles to the southeast.

Sub-committees scheduled their eighth meeting for 11 a. m. today (9 p. m. Wednesday, EST) at Panmunjom in an effort to iron out the problem.

Even if the buffer issue is settled, the truce negotiators still have three other major agenda items to consider before a military armistice can be arranged.

These include arrangements for the exchange of prisoners, truce supervision of areas behind the opposing armies and recommendations for the ultimate withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea.

Each item could be shot with controversy.

After a week of fruitless talk, the Communists broke the log-jam on the buffer issue Wednesday by abruptly making a "final" buffer proposal.

Wild Beasts Roam Forest Of Arkansas

Mt. Ida, Ark. (AP)—A leopard, one of several circus beasts which escaped in this wild mountain area of western Arkansas, was shot and killed yesterday afternoon.

Still at large said owner Ben Davenport of the Campa Bros. Circus, were another leopard, two black bears, one polar bear and six Rhus monkeys.

A heavy rain was hampering efforts of a posse to track down the animals which scampered into the woods earlier this dreary Halloween when a circus truck overturned on a slippery highway.

It first had been reported that the fugitive beasts included a young "pet" lion which mauled a nine-year-old girl to death at Mena, Ark., where the circus showed Tuesday night. However, Davenport said the lion had been accounted for in another cage.

Sheriff Wilbur Tidwell of Montgomery county, of which Mt. Ida is the county seat, said a leopard was spotted about 100 yards from the scene of the wreck. He reported that 19 persons shot at the cat and that five hits were registered.

It wasn't likely that the hunt would be continued after dark. In addition to bad weather, rugged terrain and the circus animals as hazards, this section of the Ouachita National Forest, about 15 miles northwest of Mt. Ida is inhabited by native panthers, bears and other wild animals.

One animal expert, Little Rock Zoo Director Raymond Gray, had expressed fear that the leopards would cause "some damage" before being found. He said they likely would kill livestock or even turn man killers for food.

Meanwhile, Arkansas State Trooper Allen Harris said he had "John Doe" warrants for the arrest of two circus officials on charges of negligent homicide in the child's death.

The lion clawed and bit to death little Maria de la Luez, granddaughter of a woman animal trainer, beneath a cage at Mena. Authorities previously reported the girl apparently entered the lion's cage through an unlocked door.

Trooper Harris said Deputy Prosecutor Howard Stone issued the negligent homicide warrants upon hearing that the lion was being permitted to run loose before its scheduled performance in the main tent.

Small Game Season Opens

Harrisburg, (AP)—Pennsylvania's sport event—the small game season—starts its 1951 run with some 500,000 hunters expected to take part.

Thomas D. Frye, executive director of the State Game Commission, made the hunter estimate and said the birds have more game to track down than in the past several years.

"If the weather is right," Frye said, "this ought to be one of the really big seasons in state hunting history."

The game executive said rabbits appear especially plentiful this year, and added that turkeys also have been observed in record numbers. He said ringneck pheasants also look "fairly good."

Last year, 826,000 licenses were issued. A similar total or larger is expected to be distributed this year to hunters.

The small game season, which closes Nov. 30, lifts hunting restrictions on rabbits, squirrels, ringneck pheasants and grouse. Turkeys are also fair game in all but 13 counties.

Counties closed to turkeys include Adams, Armstrong, Fayette, Greene, Mercer, Somerset, Venango, Westmoreland, York, and parts of Cambria, Cumberland, Susquehanna and Franklin.

The daily limit on turkeys is one. The bag on rabbits is four a day and 20 a season; ringnecks (males only), 2 and 8 and squirrels 4 and 20.

A new state law permits small game hunters to use semi-automatic shotguns this year. The weapons, however, must not contain more than 3 shells in magazine and chamber combined.

While game law no longer requires that shotguns and rifles carried in vehicles be in cases or wrapped, the weapons must still be unloaded.

The commission's game stocking program last year cost more than $1,000,000 and included the freeing of 76,000 rabbits; 5,160 pairs of quails; 2,903 toms and 2,300 hen turkeys; 69,965 cock ringnecks and 65,575 hens.

U. N. Armistice Moves Ahead In Snow Storm

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Thursday (AP)—Communist gunners knocked out two Allied tanks and two tank retrievers Wednesday as a U. N. Command Armored column thrust into Red Hill positions west of Kaesong on the Korean east coast under cover of a snow storm.

Southeast of Kumsong, on the central front, Chinese Reds twice pushed Allied Infantrymen off an advanced position. Three Communist attacks were repulsed by U. N. command forces west of the Punchbowl area north of Yanggu.

OPS Issues Regulations That Permits Merchants To Raise Ceilings On All Levied Goods

Washington (AP)—A $5,700,000,000 tax increase, piling an additional average load of $38 a year on each of 150,000,000 Americans, went into effect at midnight.

Here are the Halloween tricks the tax collector is playing:

An individual income tax boost averaging between 11 and 12 per cent for most persons. The withholding rate goes up on every pay check bearing a November date. That is the biggest piece of new money in the law—$2,280,000,000 on a yearly basis but applying to only a sixth of this year's income.

(The Office of Price Administration issued regulations last night permitting sellers to raise their ceiling prices to reflect the new excise taxes. In some cases the price increases will be more than the tax boost because sellers will be allowed to apply their usual percentage markups to their entire costs, including the tax.)

Higher excise taxes on a lot of widely sold items such as cigarettes, automobiles, gasoline, liquor and some household appliances.

Heavier corporate and excess profits taxes calculated to bring in $2,207,000,000 a year. The tax hikes on corporations are retroactive—some of them to last April 1, others to July 1.

A few shafts of sunshine pierced the tax cloud.

The levy on telegrams goes down from 25 to 15 per cent of the message charge. The 20 per cent retail tax is removed from baby oils, powders and lotions. The tax on smoking and chewing tobacco drops from 18 to 10 cents a pound. A 3-1-3 per cent levy on electric current is repealed.

In general, however, the salaried taxpayer is going to have to try to stretch a smaller pay check to cover heavier expenses.

His daily pack of cigarettes will be taxed eight cents instead of seven. Ten gallons of gasoline will cost him a nickel more. The Federal excise on a small sedan, now about $105, goes up to $150 at a new rate of 10 per cent of the manufacturer's list price.

The rate on hard liquor rises from $9 a 100-proof gallon to $10.50. The increase figures out to 26 cents a fifth for ordinary type whisky. But the Office of Price Stabilization is allowing a larger increase in the sale price to preserve traditional markups in the trade.

A dollar-a-barrel boost in the beer tax, from $2 to $3, amounts to about a third of a cent on a twelve-ounce bottle of brew. The tax on wines goes up an average of 12 1/2 per cent or a few pennies a bottle.

State Workers Receive Raise

Harrisburg, (AP)—Some 7,000 state workers were granted a flat 10 per cent pay increase yesterday, retroactive to July 16.

Gov. John S. Fine approved the salary hike to all Commonwealth employees, except highway workers who are paid from a special funds such as license fees or Federal sources.

State highway workers, who are paid from the Motor Vehicle Fund, were granted a similar pay increase some months ago.

The 30,000 other state employees who are paid from the state general fund will have to await legislative action on a new appropriation before receiving the 10 per cent pay hike. Fine now has a request before the General Assembly for $9,000,000 to finance the salary increase for all other state workers.

Atomic Troops Alerted For Test Of Nuclear Weapons

Las Vegas, Nev., (AP)—History's first atomic troops were alerted last night for a battlefield test of nuclear weapons at dawn today.

The exact kickoff hour of exercise Desert Rock depended on word from the Atomic Energy commission's scientists and weather observers.

Gen. Mark Clark, chief of the Army Field Forces, arrived with his staff from Fort Monroe, Va., to observe the initial tactical test of the nation's new small A-weapons. Other top ranking military and civilian leaders, including AEC Chairman Gordon Dean, were expected to arrive by plane late tonight.

The atomic exercise probably will be a single day maneuver, the AEC and Army said. It has been designed with a two-fold purpose: (1) to determine whether nuclear weapons can be used successfully in support of ground forces; and (2) to prove to the foot soldier that he can live and fight through an atomic attack.

The first report of atomic radiation in a metropolitan area as a result of a series of blasts set off near here came today from Los Angeles, 225 miles away.

But an AEC announcement stressed that it was in harmless amounts.

The AEC is measuring atomic radiation at various points throughout the country—in New York City and Upton, N. Y.; Chicago; Richmond, Wash., and Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Increase In Cigarettes To Be Limited

Philadelphia, (AP)—Pennsylvania raises will not be permitted to raise the price of cigarettes more than a penny a pack under the new tax law which becomes effective today.

Paul B. Hartenstein, district director of the office of price stabilization, said that dealers may add the amount of the new tax to their prices, but not more.

Democrats Unanimously Elect McKinney As Party Chairman

Washington, (AP)—Frank E. McKinney was unanimously elected chairman of the Democratic national committee yesterday and president Truman told him to get ready to combat a "Republican smear campaign" in 1952.

The President's instructions were made public shortly after the new party chief himself had taken note of the "morality" issue raised by Republicans and recognized by Democratic leaders at the committee meeting. His first move as chairman was a pledge to fire any party official who attempts to use influence on government agencies.

The 47-year-old banker from Indianapolis, Ind., a tyro in national politics, was chosen by Mr. Truman to succeed William M. Boyle, Jr. Boyle resigned under fire, giving reasons for health. He had been accused of influencing RFC loans, a charge he denied.

Shortly after the election, which was a mere voice vote formality of ratifying the Truman choice, the committee made public a letter from the President expressing appreciation of McKinney's willingness to undertake the assignment.

Without any reference to the dispute over Boyle's activities, Mr. Truman wrote McKinney his job will be to see that the people "have the opportunity to know the truth about what their government has done during the past 20 years and about its program for meeting the problems which still confront our country."

"The truth is the best weapon the Democratic party has," the President declared. "If we can get the real issues before the people we will win, because on the issues we are right."

"The Republicans know this as well as we do. That is why they are directing all their energies toward a campaign based on slander and vilification. The danger of this campaign must not be underestimated. We have seen tragic proof in other countries that the technique of the big lie can succeed—at least for a time."

The President said this was "a laudable political technique," but one that McKinney and the committee "must be prepared to meet by word and deed."

Jittery Jitterbug Flees After Partner Is Hurt

Macon, Ga., (AP)—It happened while she was jitterbugging last night, Annie Holt told police yesterday.

As her partner tossed her over his head, a pistol in his pocket went off, wounding her in the stomach. She is in fair condition in a Macon hospital.

Police said the Negro woman's unidentified partner ran after the gun went off and hasn't been seen since.

Truman Welcomes Princess' Party To Washington

Washington, (AP)—President Truman welcomed Princess Elizabeth to the U. S. yesterday by saying: "Margaret tells me that whenever anyone becomes acquainted with you they immediately fall in love with you."

The words weren't in Mr. Truman's prepared remarks.

Put judging by the way he and the 550,000 persons acted who turned out to greet Britain's Elizabeth and Prince Philip, they pretty well filled the bill.

The President, Mrs. Truman and daughter Margaret were waiting for the Princess when she came down the ramp from the airplane which had brought her from Montreal. Before her came Prince Philip in his naval uniform.

Elizabeth and Philip shook hands with this country's first family.

Northampton Senator Blasted

Harrisburg (AP)—Welfare Secretary William C. Brown said yesterday Sen. Joseph J. Yonko (D-Northampton) is seeking "personal publicity" in the case of a death of a patient at Allentown State hospital.

Yonko demanded that the Welfare department explain the cause of bruises he said were found on the body of Dominick Prospero who died at the hospital last month.

The department repeated its explanation that the man died of natural causes.

Marion Davies Marries Captain

Las Vegas, Nev., (AP)—Marion Davies, happy as a schoolgirl, eloped yesterday with a sea captain.

The marriage, which caught even the former actress' immediate household by surprise, came a few hours after she settled her affairs with the Hearst Corporation, head of the newspaper empire of her late close friend, publisher William Randolph Hearst.

Bookies Faced With One Of Two Decisions

(By the Associated Press)

Bookies and numbers writers today were slated to either go "legal" or to go out of business.

A new Federal law taking effect in Pennsylvania and the rest of the nation required that they register and pay $50 for an occupation stamp by last night. (Wednesday).

Further, on all future "business" the operators must pay a 10 per cent tax on their gross take.

The law left the operators way out on a limb, since if they register and pay up, they throw open their activities to the public.

President Truman is hauling out his favorite "give-em-hell" oratory in behalf of a "strong anti-inflation program."

He says "scores of special interests" have "ganged up" to profit at the expense of the rest of us. This, he says, is what is behind the "terrible" amendments to the price-control law passed by the recent Congress.

"This Administration," he alibis, "will do its best, with the tools Congress has given us, to curb inflation. But the tools are not good enough to do this job as it should be done."

Mr. Truman doesn't mention that right after the Korean war broke out Congress did give him a strong control law, a law he didn't then think necessary. And that it was months before he used the law.

In those months, inflation, for which every American now is paying through the nose, got a head start.

Now that inflation has cost the defense program many billions of dollars, and the consuming public many more billions, the President wants to "win this fight."

That's like throwing away the key and then complaining because the door isn't locked.

Prices Up; Eating Down

Meat consumption in the United States is 'way down this year, the Department of Agriculture has announced.

It's going to be about 141 pounds per person, the Department estimates. That would be lower than at any time during the past nine years. It would be 14 pounds less than in the peak year of meat-eating, which was 1947.

Is there anyone who can't guess why?

Incomes are at record high levels, but it seems obvious that meat prices must be ahead of the economic parade.

Daring Proposal

Senator Robert C. Hendrickson of New Jersey is a bold man. He wants to stop the Senate from talking so much.

The Senator has proposed to the Rules Committee that the Senate adopt a rule of relevancy. Purpose of the rule would be to make the "world's greatest deliberative body" stick to the subject before the house.

He says this would curb filibustering, speed up business and save the taxpayers' money. Talkathons, deliberation and spending long have been tradition-guarded privileges of the Senate.

Asking the Senate to stop talking is like asking a lawyer to stop taking fees.

Keep It Quiet

Senator Knowland of California has turned up the telephone director of the 1945 Yalta Conference which still carries the "Restricted" security classification.

A letter from a Defense Department official accompanying the directory also was marked "Restricted." The Senator cites this as an extreme case of stamping harmless material with security classifications.

Extreme? Apparently the Senator hasn't seen that "Restricted" Army dictionary which defines such things as "Chapeau—official cap for an Army hostess;" and "National ensign—flag of the United States."

First major shipwreck of modern record was the Lady of the Lake, bound from England to Quebec on May 11, 1833. The ship hit an iceberg and 215 persons perished.

Among famous writers who spent time in prison were St. Paul, Henry David Thoreau, John Bunyan, Sir Walter Raleigh and O. Henry.

United States Indian land holdings totaled 53 million acres in 1950, compared to 137 million 80 years before.

Try And Stop Me

In his twenty years as a radio announcer, Ben Grauer has stepped before a microphone more than 70,000 times. He has made a broadcast from under water at Jones Beach, given away the first telephone money on radio (on the Pot of Gold program), slept on the fingerprint files of the Jersey State Police the night before the verdict was reached on the Lindbergh kidnaping case, put the first survivor on the air at the Morro Castle disaster, MC'd a goat beauty contest for the opening of Beck Beer Season, and labored for sixteen consecutive hours on TV reporting the Truman-Dewey Presidential returns in 1948.

Describing a parade during the depression days of 1933 from a blimp hovering over Fifth Avenue Grauer intoned, "This signals the first step toward rehabilitating the nation's unemployed."

Then he suddenly stopped. That "first step" was almost a fatal one for Grauer. The trap door of the blimp, right next to the microphone, had just swung wide open!

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—Reviewers begin feeling that crystal ball urge about this time every year. Enough celluloid has run through projection machines that picture-reporters sense safe bets for Academy Award nominations.

To this fan, Vivien Leigh in "A Streetcar Named Desire" looks like the starring actress to beat. The picture itself will doubtless be nominated. Miss Leigh's closest competition should be from Jane Wyman in "The Blue Veil" and Shelley Winters in "A Place in the Sun."

As Blanche DuBois, pathetic, tarnished belle who tatters finally over the brink of insanity, Miss Leigh is superb. Even her frayed and flossy finery contributes eloquently to her portrayal of the frustrated dreamer in drab New Orleans surroundings.

Still, some Academy voters probably will prefer the tear-jerking coming of Miss Wyman in a long career as a baby-nurse in "Blue Veil." One ventures to speculate on some voter reasoning: Yes, Miss Leigh is great, but she had the advantage of playing the "Streetcar" role on the London Stage for 9 months. Miss Wyman had to create her powerful performance from scratch.

Then there's Miss Winters, who steps out of siren roles into the real-actress class under Director George Stevens' guidance.

Among men, Marlon Brando in "Streetcar" may well head the pack. Ties he to crude Stanley Kowalski, slum-dweller, whose hatred of Blanche helps drive her over the brink. He, too, had the advantage of stage experience; two years in the Pulitzer

These Days -- By George E. Sokolsky

Sokolsky

Crusade for Freedom: I was nearly converted to the "Crusade for Freedom" until I saw their circular. "Join the Crusade for Freedom." Then I could not understand why they told a lie. Let me quote the lie: "Like the 'V' for Victory, the world freedom bell has become the symbol of resistance to world tyranny. To the enslaved peoples it means hope. Inscribed on its rim are Abraham Lincoln's words, 'That this world, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom.'"

Now where does this crusade for freedom get off twisting the most stirring paragraph of Abraham Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address" into a false meaning?

Lincoln could not have worried about the world having a new birth of freedom, because the whole world has never known anything about freedom. Most of the nations of the world have never experienced freedom. Most of the 2,000,000,000 and more human beings have no conception of what freedom means, and a great part of them even today would fear our concept of freedom. It would terrify them to live in a world where each human being is free to form the pattern of his life.

The people that Abraham Lincoln was talking to where Americans who at that time had been on this continent for about 250 years and who had formed a nation dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. His hope was that a nation so dedicated should not perish from the earth. His countrymen were then engaged in a war among themselves over the nature of the American nation. Gettysburg was the scene of a great battle where some of those killed in this war had been buried. Lincoln came to Gettysburg to partake of the ceremonies of consecrating a burial ground for his countrymen.

The Gettysburg address has generally been regarded as the most perfect example of American oratory. Every word of it is hallowed in American tradition. To twist a sentence of this address, to inscribe it falsely on a bell to celebrate United Nations Day in Berlin is a desecration of an American tradition and a fraud upon the Germans.

I often wonder who does these stupid things. Certainly, there are plenty of educated Germans who have read the Gettysburg Address. I wonder if the slimy Gerhart Eisler, Soviet propagandist in East Germany, has not countered with a reminder that the inscription on the bell, at-were taught in school to recite: "It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion—to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, shall not perish from the earth."

tributed to Lincoln, was not spoken by Lincoln.

In the same circular, General Eisenhower is quoted as follows: "In the battle for truth, you and I have a definite part to play through the crusade for freedom."

But is it truth to switch Lincoln from a nationalist to an internationalist, from an American to a one worlder?

I make this protest because the evidence is clear in China, Korea, Iran, Egypt, in the British elections and wherever it is possible to gauge public opinion that America is being presented in a false light. Maybe we do not know how to tell our story.

But there is a wonderful American story to tell. For here, over a period of three centuries 50 races of man have learned to live together, in freedom. Here men and women have not feared government but have loved God and in the law of God have found a way of life which was best expressed by Thomas Jefferson in the preamble to the Declaration of Independence.

When some smartaleck substitutes for that glorious story a twisted sentence from Lincoln, I feel impelled to protest and to ask you to protest. We need never lie.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Emergency Exit At Pannunjon

Dear Babe:

Well, the winter tour of the Korean traveling true circus is on again. I am still in the detail and if you should happen to fly this way you will have no trouble locating me as I have a flock of big colored balloons over me to show where I am. From the sky you could not be sure if I am at a country fair, a circus or a horse show. I guess this is the first time a big true conference has been held under a "big top." Both sides are doing a tightwire act and the Reds are trying to make us work without a net. The actors should enter on horseback in a parade featuring chariots and floats depicting "Little Miss Snafu," and "A Streetcar Named Deadlock."

The balloons are put up to mark the new area of complete distrust and let anybody in a peaceful mood know he is entering forbidden territory. (They put the true talks in the bag's Sergeant Mooney, who is quite a joker, says.) If any of our fliers invade the area from now on it will be on account of their mistook it for the New Orleans Mardi Gras. The United Nations adopted this balloon routine too late. They should of put them around General MacArthur so Harry Truman would have had a better idea where he was and what he was doing. But it is such a good idea, I think they should have put balloons around Joe Louis Clem Attlee, the Dodgers and whoever plays Princeton next.

There are quite a few new faces in the new true talks and I think maybe both sides will now use the two-platoon system, sending in one team for defense and one for ground-gaining. They have run out of subjects over which to disagree, so are using some new topics. Today, our team went into quite a hassle over whether Joe DiMaggio meant it when he said in Tokyo that he was through with baseball. The question whether the revival of vaudeville in New York would eclipse the revival of it at the Pannunjon talks was also discussed. I tried to get on the agenda the question how come the Chinese Red delegates to the true talks always show up on those base-ball caps worn by the 1947 Dodgers, but I was ruled out of order.

I got your letter saying you had a dream I had been shifted to Egypt, Iran or Sudan and that I was surrounded by oil refineries, canals and various disturbances. It may not be a dream, babe. "Emergency Exit," that's me, and my new forwarding address could be Abadan or the Suez Canal any time, I guess, the way things are going. The hassels are so global I would not be surprised to be doing guard duty around a couple of pyramids and on KP duty in front of the Sphinx. I am getting into shape by reading Kipling all over again and can already recite Gunga Din in a military manner. In my dreams I am away ahead of you. I dream the other night that I was going to the front on a camel and had just been decorated for setting an oil dispute, making canals safe for democracy and closing the Nile to Pravda.

Love and all that,
Emil.

Now that Rommel, right-hand man to Der Fuehrer until he saw all was lost, has been made the hero of a Broadway movie, how about a film glorifying Goebbels on the ground that, after all, he was good to his mother? ... Incidentally, our ambish is to see a review written of "Desert Fox" by General Montgomery. ... "The Fourposter" is not only a rare novelty, but a grand evening in the theater. Shudda Haddim, who had a bet on the skinner only to see him finish last in the $25,000 Westchester Handicap says, "After all, I should of known Hall of Fame was a bust." ... Ken Murray is to have a video program two and half hours long. ... How can the program last that long? Is Ken going to shoe the Budweiser horse team? ... The Horse Show, the rodeo and prize fights follow one another so rapidly at Madison Square Garden that Elmer Twitchell got confused and went to the Horse Show carrying a waterbucket, a bridle and a larriat. ... Then there's the fight fan who got into the Horse Show by mistake, watched a horse miss three jumps and yelled, "Move around! Move around!"

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

Washington—I wonder if any of you will recognize the following newspaper story and tell the dateline under which it appeared.

"A Federal judge today pounded his bench for emphasis as he assailed authorities for ignoring 'a perfect catalogue of crimes.'"

"There is somebody, some influence, some system back of all this," he declared in court.

"Defense attorneys in the cases I have heard have admitted wholesale violations of laws," the judge declared. "When I have instructed the juries I have set forth a perfect catalogue of crimes."

"Yet the pathetic cry of an oppressed people has fallen on heedless and deaf ears. Those who are elected to protect the people from oppression and prosecute violations have not acted. There has not been a move to prosecute. Not a word has been said in protest."

"With his face flushed in anger, the judge declared:

"They have done nothing. How long will the iron heel of oppression rest on the people? How long will it be until those who are elected to protect our rights will start prosecution of these wholesale crimes?"

"Let us save our city from the odium now resting on it. I wonder how long the people will remain apathetic in the face of such staggering crimes? Let the clergymen condemn such acts. Let the merchants, teachers and city leaders tell us if they approve or condemn such things. Let the chairmen of the two political committees tell us they condemn the crimes and that they join with the government in an effort to restore the purity of the ballot."

"Aware that there was an organized effort to distort justice and extract illegal gain," the Federal judge asserted: "These defendants were instructed to do what they did. Somebody, probably prominent, has induced these people to do these things."

"In his anger the judge sentenced five defendants to prison. This brought to 45 the number of politicians sentenced to jail as a result of prosecution. Others involved remain free at the grace of prosecuting officials. The judge did not name them, but his anger was unprecedented in Federal court. One Democratic politician was sentenced to five years in prison, another three years. A Democratic judge received a two-year sentence in a Federal reformatory; a Republican city clerk was sentenced to 60 days in jail. Yet, the judge was forced to admit that higher ups remain free."

"Officials who permit election frauds, thieves and gangsters to thrive at city, county, state and national levels were charged with dereliction of duty."

"There are even those who desire political victory to an extent that they use immigrants for accomplishing their purposes at the polls," the judge asserted. He was caustic in his assertions that criminals are protected, political favoritism is rife and that wholesale vote thefts and ballot tampering is tolerated at all political levels."

The dateline? Kansas City, Mo., June 3, 1937.

The judge? Albert L. Reeves of the Federal court, speaking of the Kansas city election fraud trials of that year.

Was it ever thus? And how long will we tolerate the spread of Pendergastism across the nation? I'll tell you tomorrow how much attention was paid to the court's warning by those in political alliance with gangsters and ballot box thieves.

Looking at Life

By Erich Brandeis

With all the bad news on the front pages of our newspapers we really owe a debt of gratitude to the little people who indulge in what may be called "inside follies."

Brandeis

Their escapades and misdoings are usually chronicled on the inside pages. Sometimes you have to look pretty hard to find them. I said "little people." That is because a big name does not necessarily make a person big. A very little girl, for instance, can be made to appear awfully big by some adroit press agent who knows how to get his client sufficient publicity.

In my morning paper there appear three front page stories. Henry Wallace calls the late Secretary Forrestal a liar. Philip C. Jessup calls Senator McCarthy a liar. Herold F. Stassen calls Secretary Dean Acheson a liar.

These stories are not only very disheartening but, by their regularity, they become quite monotonous.

I usually skip over the front pages quite quickly and go adventuring on the inside.

And what do I find?

Here is a follow-up on Judy Garland poking a fellow in the eye and knocking off his glasses. Delicious!

Franciot Tone and Barbara Payton return from their honeymoon.

He says he is extremely happy. She says she has never been so happy in her life. Fine!

Brandeis

Bruce Cabot, the movie actor, accused of issuing bum checks for $1150. Delightful!

Actress Marilyn Erskine files suit for divorce. Refreshing!

But here is something you can REALLY enjoy. This is real ROMANCE.

"The six-foot-three son of a Texas oil millionaire said today he would rather have Samia Gamal, favorite dancing girl of King Farouk of Egypt, than his mother's money."

And Miss Gamal, described in the news dispatches as a "belly dancer," tells reporters that she has absolutely no idea whether her future husband, young Shepard W. King 3d of Houston, is rich or poor.

Miss Gamal attained a certain amount of fame with her "Bride of the Nile" dance. Young Mr. King's mother is furious, particularly because her son has turned Moslem in order to marry the girl.

The description of the quickie romance is charming.

It all happened in the Lido, a Champs-Elysees night club in Paris where the young heir had taken his sister for some dancing.

Suddenly, he says, he saw the most beautiful girl he ever laid his eyes on. He sent a bottle of champagne to her table and she asked him and his sister to sit at their table, much to the dismay of her escort, an "Algerian film executive."

The next day they were engaged. He gave her a "marble-sized diamond engagement ring."

Now isn't that much more entertaining than all the depressing front page news?

And, as long as there ARE people, people will make fools of themselves.

With all the bad news on the front pages of our newspapers we really owe a debt of gratitude to the little people who indulge in what may be called "inside follies."

Their escapades and misdoings are usually chronicled on the inside pages. Sometimes you have to look pretty hard to find them. I said "little people." That is because a big name does not necessarily make a person big. A very little girl, for instance, can be made to appear awfully big by some adroit press agent who knows how to get his client sufficient publicity.

In my morning paper there appear three front page stories. Henry Wallace calls the late Secretary Forrestal a liar. Philip C. Jessup calls Senator McCarthy a liar. Herold F. Stassen calls Secretary Dean Acheson a liar.

These stories are not only very disheartening but, by their regularity, they become quite monotonous.

I usually skip over the front pages quite quickly and go adventuring on the inside.

And what do I find?

Here is a follow-up on Judy Garland poking a fellow in the eye and knocking off his glasses. Delicious!

Franciot Tone and Barbara Payton return from their honeymoon.

Marine Corps League To Hold Gathering

Monroe County Detachment of Marine Corps League will meet tonight in the East Stroudsburg Armory with members of the Junior rifle platoon.

Officers of the corps yesterday issued an invitation to all youngsters 11 to 16 interested in firearms to be present with their parents.

The corps leaders plan to demonstrate how training in the platoon teaches young people to handle firearms without injury to themselves or others.

Held On Bad Check Charges

Irene M. Johns, Normal St. E. Stroudsburg was held by Justice of the Peace Herbert Bonser yesterday in $1,000 bail for her appearance in Monroe County court on a worthless check charge.

Prosecution was pressed by an East Stroudsburg merchant. The warrant, issued by Bonser, was served by Officer Ed Harloe of East Stroudsburg police.

The frankfurter was originally a link sausage of a type made chiefly in Frankfurt, Germany. It was discovered in Southern Mexico in 1858 by a native workman.

Letters To The Editor

The Daily Record welcomes Letters to The Editor. The subjects discussed and the opinions expressed are strictly those of the writer and not necessarily the opinions of this newspaper. All letters to The Editor must be signed with a bona fide address given. Such signatures and addresses will be withheld if the writer desires.

Editor, The Record,
Stroudsburg, Pa.

My Dear Mr. Editor:

Well I see President Truman has done it! He has betrayed the great body of PROTESTANTS, (millions of them), by naming a new envoy to the Vatican.

Every Protestant clergyman in the country has vigorously opposed this breach in the separation of Church and State. But apparently all their protests have fallen on deaf ears.

Why should one religious body or church group be favored above another, and be recognized this way by this great land of the free and home of the brave?

The great body of Lutherans throughout the world, numbering into the millions, do not ask this country to send them a special envoy, nor do the Presbyterians, Methodists, Baptists or any others, so why should the Roman church be singled out and be favored in this respect?

The Union of Church and State is contrary to the ethics of good government and true Democracy. It savors of Totalitarianism, and, moreover, it is in open violation and defiance of the Constitution of the United States.

Sincerely submitted,
John G. Harl

Delegates To Vote Sunday

Delegates from all unions affiliated with the Central Labor Union of Monroe County will vote on Sunday night on a per capita tax discussed last month.

The important meeting will start promptly at 7 p. m. John Farley, president, said all delegates are expected to attend.

Nominations of officers will be submitted at this meeting. Officers involved include president, vice president, recording secretary, corresponding secretary, treasurer and three auditors.

Gas Rates Go Up In Slate Belt

Harrisburg (AP)—Two Northampton County gas companies were granted permission yesterday by the Public Utility Commission to increase rates, effective today.

The Pen Argyl Gas Co., Pen Argyl, will increase manufactured gas rates of 547 users an estimated $2900 a year.

The Bangor Gas Co., Bangor, will introduce a new rate schedule raising costs to 1,338 users by $1,400 a year, and cutting charges to 59 others by $970 a year.

Elks To Hold Regular Meeting

East Stroudsburg Lodge, 319, BPO Elks, Joseph H. Small, exalted ruler, will meet in regular session today at 8 p. m. with considerable business on the agenda. Entertainment will follow the business meeting, the committee states.

The men's bowling league will be in action Friday night. Much interest has been shown in the competition notwithstanding the season is still in its infancy.

Altier Returned To Office In Eastern Poconos Resort Group

William J. Altier, operator of Altier's Inn along Rt. 209 in Eastern Poconos, was re-elected president of the Eastern Poconos Resort association last night during a meeting in Regina Hotel.

Reports from the membership indicated that a very successful year had been recorded in operations during the 1951 summer season.

Experiences developed during the year were applied to a tentative discussion of plans for the 1952 season.

Other officers elected included: Edward Schmidt, vice president; Alvin DeWitt, secretary; Ted Regina, treasurer.

Those elected to the board of directors were: Adolph Schmidt, Hal Hamlen, Jack Shinn, Irene Werry, Harry Ahnert Jr. Other members of the board include: William Gerard, Charles Theodore.

A vote of appreciation was extended to Rep. John S. Shotwell (R-Monroe), for his work in behalf of road improvements in a number of strategic spots in Eastern Poconos region.

Freedom Crusade Ballons To Be Released In Monroe County

Chamber Of Commerce To Begin Project

Launching of Crusade for Freedom balloons will be demonstrated in Monroe County Saturday, November 10 when a Freedom motorcade arrives here on its tour of Pennsylvania to demonstrate how the Crusade penetrates the Iron Curtain with balloons containing messages of freedom and hope for thousands under the domination of the Communists.

Preliminary to the appearance of this remarkable demonstration motorcade, Frank S. LaBar and Gerald P. O'Neill, general chairman of Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce Crusade for Freedom Committee will set in motion a project with certain specific goals to aid this effective and unusual Crusade against the forces of Communism. Action on the project gets under way November 10 and will end November 16.

First, they will seek 8,445 signatures for Freedom from enrollment scrolls from the youth and adults of Monroe County.

Secondly, they will seek the maximum number of contributions—the pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters, half dollars and dollar variety to help finance Crusade for Freedom's anti-Communist campaign.

Mr. LaBar emphasized they are after mass contributions, rather than size of contributions. "Our reason is simply that we want everyone in Monroe County to feel they are a part of this tremendous movement which has already brought so much hope to enslave peoples of Europe and so much worry and discomfort to those who would destroy the world by enslaving free men and women everywhere," he said.

Mr. O'Neill, endorsing this statement, said receipts and certificates of membership will be available to all who give $1 or more to this cause.

The Freedom Motorcade and demonstration will be located, in front of the Penn-Stroud hotel on November 10 and there Crusade for Freedom scrolls will be available for signatures of all citizens as well as membership certificates for those who prefer to give $1 or more. Other scrolls and contribution boxes will be distributed all over Monroe county.

The Crusade for Freedom is headed by the eminent American and soldier, General Lucius D. Clay.

THE ANNUAL WYCKOFF sponsored parade for youngsters of the community was held yesterday in Stroudsburg with a major turnout of children in all types of costumes. Every child, many accompanied by parents was given Hallowe'en gifts. (Daily Record photo)

Music, Costumes, Prizes Feature Hallowe'en Parade Sponsored By Retail Merchants Of Area

The Hallowe'en parade was brisk as the October air, frisky as a new colt.

The outlandishly-costumed marchers—adults, children, bands, drum majorettes, women's auxiliaries, drill teams, were ready in front of East Stroudsburg High school before the starting whistle was set to toot.

The parade, scheduled to begin at 7:30 p. m., kicked off five minutes ahead of time.

Bands marched with precision, drum beats reverberated down the crowd-packed canyons of the streets, and weird creatures dressed as everything from Hopalong Cassidy with masks to living television sets romped energetically to the yells of spectators.

It was more than a mile from the starting point to the destination—Seventh St., in Stroudsburg. The chill air hurried the parades along.

With the marching over and prizes about to be distributed, costumed marchers, bandsmen, majorettes, thousands of milling spectators thronged into the block between Main St. and Courthouse Square, on Seventh. From sidewalk to sidewalk, wall to wall, the crowds pressed in around a sound-truck to hear the mild-voiced loudspeaker tick off the winners.

One by one winners mounted the back of the truck. The tots were lifted up and held aloft for the crowd to see.

It was about 10 p. m. before the $400 in prizes had been awarded, and the crowd began to disperse.

Best-dressed couple awards were won by Helen Silver, with Jean and Paul Benson and son Tim Benson, all of East Stroudsburg; Mrs. James Keiper and Mrs. George Wilson, Pocono Lake; Verna Ace and Irene Sturdevant, East Stroudsburg; Mary Ann Deihl and Marilyn Sterner, East Stroudsburg; and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur William Bary of Bangor RD2.

Winners of $25 prizes in the band competition were Dames of Malta drill team, East Stroudsburg High school, State Teachers College, Stroudsburg High school, the American Legion and the Middle Smithfield bands.

Awards for most original costumes were won by Ronnie Van Why, Stroudsburg; Shirley Harris, East Stroudsburg; Mrs. Herbert Yutz, East Stroudsburg; and Gail McDowell, N. Fifth St., Stroudsburg.

Adults taking the funniest-costume awards were Mrs. Peter Everitt, Stroudsburg, Oth Wilson, Stroudsburg, and Genevieve Barr, East Stroudsburg.

Best-dressed child prizes went to Elaine Carlton and Joanne DePietro, East Stroudsburg, and Billy Schwartz and Shirley Van Why, of Stroudsburg.

6,000 People On Hand At Bangor March

Bangor—An overflow crowd of six thousand watched the annual Hallowe'en parade at Bangor last night.

The parade, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, lasted an hour and a half and extended over a two-mile route. The following awards were made:

Best decorated float — Garland Parsons, florists, Pen Argyl; second — Bangor Future Farmers of America; most comical float — Charles Slutter; second — Morris Capazzolo; most comical marching organization — Junior Exchange Club; second — fifth grade, Lincoln School Building Class; third — Brownie girl scout troop, Bangor.

The award for the "most unusual organization, afoot" went to the "Future Guerrillas of Korea", a soldier panorama acted by eight ten-year-old boys.

Other awards: largest marching organization — fourth grade, Lincoln School building; second — East Bangor cub scout troop; most elaborate costume — Barbara Beck; best decorated baby carriage — Gertrude Retsher; second — Ernie Hughes; best witch — Dick Dodd; second — Billy Warrick; best ghost — Mickey Falcone; best clown — Frank Falcone; fastest marcher — Mrs. Howard Albert; smallest marcher — Mary Lou Welsch; most original costume — Stanley and Barbara Werkheiser; second — Anna, David and Michael Telf; most comical express wagon — George Kressler; best decorated wagon — Gary Jones.

Two awards for decoration of bicycles were made to Dick Snyder and Billy Lewis. Rene Bet and "partner" were chosen best "bride and groom" by the judges, with Robert and Dorothy Ettinger awarded second prize in that category.

The Bangor parade was lead by Ernest Turtzo, president of the Bangor Chamber of Commerce. Participating in the parade were five bands, a drum and bugle corps and all organizational vehicles in the area.

Most ancient Greek hippodromes, constructed for horse and chariot races, were placed on a hill slope so that excavated material from one side could serve as an embankment for the other.

Sale Of Livestock Products Listed As Chief Farm Revenue

Editor's Note—This is the last in a preliminary series of articles to be published by The Daily Record dealing with the 1950 Agriculture census.

More money comes into Monroe county through sale of livestock and its products than through any other farm product. Agriculture census figures for 1950 showed total farm product sales of $2,086,300 for 1949.

Gas Rates Increase Today

Harrisburg, (P) — The Citizen Gas Co., Oxford, was authorized by the Public Utility Commission yesterday to increase its rates by $12,000 a year starting today.

J. Charles Smith, Stroudsburg, had protested the boost. The company claimed the new increase was required by higher operating costs.

The utility services 2,691 customers in the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg area.

Sales of livestock and its products accounted for about 71 per cent of the figure.

All crops sold the same year added about 28 per cent. The 1 per cent balance was from sale of forest products . . . building timber and Christmas trees.

Under a break-down of the leading item, livestock and livestock products, poultry raisers headed the list.

Sale of poultry and poultry products brought about $740,000 . . . a rise of more than $120,000 from 1944.

Next came sale of dairy products—about $350,000, as opposed to about $370,000 in 1944. Last was a figure of some $186,000 for livestock and products other than dairy and poultry—a decline from 1944's approximate $244,000.

Steepest drop, percentage-wise, for specific items listed was that of vegetable sales. In 1944 a healthy $283,000 worth were sold. In 1949 sales decreased to a total of only about $57,000.

For comparative purposes, the following items showed gains in sales from 1944 to 1949: Field crops (other than vegetable and fruit-and-nut), horticultural specialties (from $90,000 to $160,000), livestock and products, dairy products, poultry and products and forest products.

Showing declines were the total dollar value of all crops sold, vegetables, fruits and nuts, and livestock and products other than dairy and poultry.

Plans Begin For Auxiliary Training Class

Plans were set in motion last night for the "Auxiliary Firemen's Training Course" which will train volunteers for civil defense duty.

The county-wide program, under supervision of Fire Chief Marvin Abel, East Stroudsburg, will recruit men from 18 to 54 to assist in fire-fighting in case of defense emergency.

The program will begin shortly after Christmas, but the publicity campaign to enlist support and educate the public to this civil defense need will begin immediately. Recruiting also starts at once.

Volunteers will be asked to report to the fire houses in their districts between 6 and 9 p. m. Nov. 26 through 28.

Representing county fire departments at the meeting in East Stroudsburg municipal hall last night were Robert Phillips, Stroudsburg; Fred Metzgar, Tannersville; Victor Hoehe, Marshalls Creek; Ernest Bond, Stroud township; Fred Miller, Stroudsburg; and Marilyn Bitterman, Tannersville.

WHY BE A COUNTY COMMISSIONER ?

SURELY EVERYONE KNOWS THAT

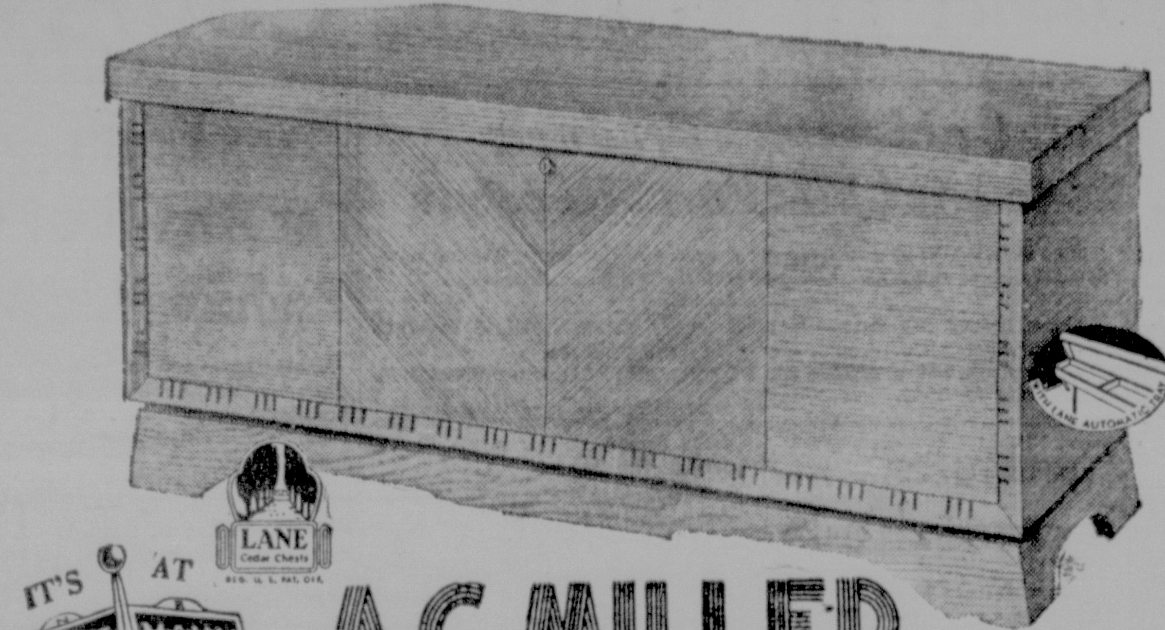

THE SALARY FOR THIS OFFICE IS NEGLIGIBLE!

WHY, THEN, THE DESIRE TO BE A COUNTY COMMISSIONER?

Friends: - - I cannot tell you why others seek this office . . . but I can tell you why I do. For many years, as one of your public servants, my record stands and speaks for itself. There are no blemishes; there's nothing to explain . . . nothing to fear. And, with this same approach, I'd like to see accomplished the improvements so badly needed in our county. I'd like to try and do the many things that SHOULD HAVE BEEN DONE MANY YEARS AGO! Our county should be up among the leaders of the state . . . and, unfortunately, it isn't. I faithfully promise, as in the past, a most sincere effort on my part to better the conditions for ALL Monroe County citizens. This is why I'd like to be a . . .

Term "Domestic Work" Confuses Some People Henryville

Many people are confused about the meaning of the term "domestic work" as applied to employees under social security, according to Marie T. Miller, manager of the regional social security office serving Monroe county.

To illustrate her statement, she cites the case of a woman worker who came to the social security office the other day to ask why her work was not under social security like that of other domestic employees.

It turned out that her work was not "domestic work," and had been under social security right along. She cleaned offices for various professional people on a part-time basis. Her employers had never asked to see her social security card, and had not deducted any tax from her wages. Their failure to do so was not because of bad faith, but simply because they had misinterpreted the meaning of the law. They had not realized that part-time office cleaning is casual labor in the course of the employer's trade or business, and has been covered by social security since the original law went into effect.

On the other hand, "domestic work" which means work performed in a private household, came under social security on January 1, 1951. It includes any kind of labor, inside or outside a house. A cook, laundress, gardener, chauffeur, or any other kind of worker employed by one household employer on at least 24 different days, and paid not less than $50 cash wages in a calendar quarter is in work covered by social security. A "calendar quarter" is a three-month period beginning January 1, April 1, July 1, or October 1.

Mr. and Mrs. William Tamulis

Tamulis, Tomala Nuptials Performed In Conn. Church

Miss Ann Elizabeth Tomala, daughter of Mrs. Andrew Tomala, of Torrington, Conn., became the bride of William Tamulis, son of Mrs. Andrew Tamulis, of Stroudsburg RD 3, over the weekend at a 9 o'clock ceremony at Sacred Heart church, Torrington.

Rev. John J. Zholo, the pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony which was performed before an altar decorated with yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Gertrude Sherwill, soprano soloist, was heard in Schubert's "Ave Maria" and Bizet's "Agnus Dei" and "Panis Angelicus." Mrs. Anna Michna presided at the organ and played Lohngren's wedding march and Schubert's "Serenade."

Andrew Tomala presented his sister in marriage. The bride was attired in a white dutchess satin wedding gown designed with sweetheart neckline trimmed with lace and was attached to a pearl crown. She carried a white prayerbook trimmed with camellias and sevensonia.

Her sister, Mary Tomala, was maid-of-honor. Her apple green satin gown was cut with a mandarin neckline and bouffant skirt with a quilted pleated trimming at the hips. She wore matching mitts and an apple green satin cloche with French plumes. Her bouquet consisted of light bronze pompons trimmed with ivy.

Miss Catherine, Tomala, another sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. She wore a shrimp colored satin gown fashioned with a mandarin neckline of lace and a full bouffant skirt, matching mitts and a satin cloche with French plumes. She carried a bouquet of dark brown pompons, also trimmed with ivy.

Joseph DeSanto, of Stroudsburg, served as best man for his brother-in-law, John Moran, of Torrington, cousin of the bridegroom, was the usher.

Following the ceremony a dinner was served at Sacred Heart hall with a reception later for the guests from Pennsylvania, New York and Connecticut.

The bride's mother received in a navy blue dress trimmed with a navy print and the bridegroom's mother selected a navy blue print.

Mr. and Mrs. Tamulis left on a motor trip to Montreal, Canada. She selected for traveling a tan tweed coat over a brown dress and dark brown accessories. They will reside at 31 Roulin St., Torrington, upon their return from their trip.

Mrs. Tamulis was graduated from Torrington high school and St. Francis Hospital, School of Nursing, Hartford, Conn. She is a member of the nursing staff of the Charlotte Hungerford hospital, Torrington. Her husband, a graduate of Stroudsburg schools, served four years in Europe with the 74th Coast Artillery and is employed at the Standard plant, Torrington.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

"Just" looking, thank you," is a game for adults that can be as exciting as the latest news reel... particularly when it is played in Wyckoff's where genial clerks are always happy to be partners. The trick is to discover as many new items as possible, and it's amazing what a score you can accumulate.

Yesterday, for instance, I found several things... including a new bathroom freshener of metal, cylindrical in shape, that hides cozily within a roll of tissue and hangs against the wall. This costs $1.49 and the long-lasting deodorizing pellet is replaceable. The secret of fresh, clean air is chlorophyll which was not too long ago, just another puzzling word in the General Science book. Look on the notions counter for this!

Speaking of deodorants calls to mind the new "De-Bar" for men, created by Sportsman, an adaptation of the cologne sticks we women love. Sportsman also offers a complete line of male toiletries in Alirite, non-spillable containers for traveling executives.

A thrift item that appeals to me, though it is more overlooked than new, is elastic thread. In the past, we women have used it for smocking little girls' dresses, ruffling our dressing table covers, or finishing off an apron waistband. But it's a boon, I'm told, for any housewife faced by dozens of otherwise perfectly good socks that have lost their stretchable topbands through frequent tubbings. A few rows of this thread that sells at 25 cents for 36 yards, and socks have a new give-and-take.

But, frankly, I'm in a pensive mood today. I never knew how many different varieties of pins there are. There's one for the hat, as charmingly decorative as any Grandma ever wore, though it is no longer a dangerous, foot-long weapon. Then there's the overgrown Safety to hold blankets and the midget Safety which is called a Pinette. This Pinette is truly a gem, having a bulging shaft which fits into the shank of a button. Why sew on the button that can't go to the cleaner? Why not be a pin-up girl? After all, the pin is mightier than the sword!

How To Hold FALSE TEETH More Firmly In Place

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass when slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Just sprinkle a little FAS-TEETH on your plates. This alkaline (non-acid) powder holds false teeth more firmly and more comfortably. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Does not sour, checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FAS-TEETH today at any drug store.

James T. Johnson Jr., said the 20-year-old Mays, a high school graduate, was rejected by local board 122 at Fairfield because he failed his aptitude test. Fairfield is a suburb of Birmingham.

Statement
"In view of the fact that Willie Mays was a high school graduate with better than average grades," Col. Johnson said in a statement, "I am requesting the Birmingham induction station to set a date for reexamination."

That is the "usual procedure" in such cases, the director said.

Scranton Deal Set According To Top Official

Williamsport, Pa.—A top official of the Eastern league said yesterday the Boston Red Sox baseball team will sign a working agreement with the Albany Senators of the Eastern league tomorrow.

The spokesman, who declined use of his name, also said the Cleveland Indians are going to transfer their Eastern league franchise from Wilkes-Barre to Reading and that the Scranton Franchise has been sold by the Boston Red Sox to a group of men headed by Eddie Kirschner of Hazleton.

President Thomas H. Richardson, contacted at his home here, declined comment on the spokesman's statements.

The spokesman's remarks bolstered long-standing rumors concerning the future of the three franchises.

The Red Sox and Thomas P. McCaffrey, president of the Albany team, will sign the contracts regarding the working agreement at McCaffrey's office tomorrow, the spokesman said. The Senators operated independently last season.

Poor Attendance
He said the Indians were moving their franchise from Wilkes-Barre to Reading because of poor attendance last season and the new Municipal Stadium in Reading.

The Wilkes-Barre Barons won the Eastern league pennant this year but failed to attract sufficient fans in the opinion of the Cleveland management, the spokesman declined.

The Scranton sale, involving purchase of the Scranton Stadium property, is expected to be consummated within the next two weeks if it hasn't taken place already, the source said.

Kirschner formerly operated the Scranton franchise and brought baseball to that city in 1939 after the Miners, as they are nicknamed, dropped out of the New York-Pennsylvania competition because of poor attendance the preceding year.

Kirschner and his associates sold their interests to the Red Sox after World War Two started.

ing. Talmage has picked up 728 yards in 108 plays and Myers 722 in 103.

Harry Agganis of Boston U. tops the association in forward passing. The star quarterback has completed 67 out of 115 attempts good for 842 yards and seven touchdowns. Fordham's Roger Franz is second with 62 completions in 121 tries. Franz, however, leads in yardage with 967 and in touchdowns, nine.

Louis Asks For Time To Consider Ring Future

New York, (AP)—Joe Louis yesterday asked the public and various athletic commissions to "bear with me while I think out my future plans."

Louis issued a statement from his Theresa, Hotel headquarters through the International Boxing Club. Obviously it was prompted by Tuesday's statement from the Illinois Athletic Commission that the commission would bar Louis if he decides to continue fighting. The 37-year-old former champion stopped by "Rocky" Marciano last Friday night, said Monday he would defer any announcement until his return from an exhibition tour of Japan. He will leave for Seattle, November 10, enroute to Japan.

Grateful
In his statement Louis said he was grateful for past kindness and had always conducted himself so his friends never would have to apologize for any of his actions. "Now we have come to a turn in the road," he said. "And many people undoubtedly kindly disposed and in all good will, have had varied opinions on my future." Asking for a chance to think out his plans, Louis assured the sports public he would not let them down.

Abe Greene, National Boxing Association Commissioner, said he was willing to go along with Louis in view of his great performances in the past and his contribution to the boxing game. "I think he is entitled to take a little time to make up his mind," said Greene at Paterson, N. J., "in deference to the fact that he always has been a fellow with good taste. When and if, Joe does something contrary to good taste, then we would be ready to do something about it."

There are some in Pennsylvania who say that Lawrence has in his fold the four best backs in the state. Burt Talmage, a junior from Mountain Lakes, N. J., leads the east in scoring with 12 touchdowns and tops the east also in rushing, where he has averaged more than seven yards a crack in 108 plays.

Brad Myers, of Lancaster, who didn't even play football in high school, is second in rushing with an average a shade below Talmage's. Each has gained over 700 yards while no else in the east has hit 500.

Praise
Some say that Bob Albert is the best fullback in the east, too, and Lawrence considers him the finest blocking back he has ever seen. Tommy Dean, quarterback in Lawrence's split-T formation is regarded as a deceptive ball handler and first rate passing threat. But Talmage, Myers and Albert are just as likely to throw a pass as Dean.

The bulwark of the big, fast Bucknell line is George Young, a 245-pound tackle, a lad who weighed 306 pounds when he entered college. His tackle teammate, Frank Kirby, who scales 235, was a substitute at high school.

Lawrence's squad numbers only 39, eight of them freshmen. "It's a good thing," Harry observes, "that first year men are allowed to play. Otherwise my two platoon system wouldn't have much variety."

Long Shot
The 28 to one shot gained the lead inside the last furlong and held on to edge Mrs. G. M. Jelliss' Denizen in 1:52 and three-fifths, fastest time since the war for the straight mile and an eighth gallop. Denizen started at 20 to one.

Loses Place
Lord Rosbury's Fastnet Rock, the eight to one favorite, got close enough to have its picture taken in the run for third but it lost the place to Lord Durham's Brunetto, a 66 to one longshot.

The victory was worth $9,660 to Mrs. Johnson, a Londoner, who owns only one other horse.

An Irish hospital sweepstakes payoff is based on the race.

The 45-horse field was a record for this race, topping by two the previous record set in 1862.

Lawrence Sold On Bucknell Grid Machine

Lewisburg, Pa. (AP)—Found: A football coach who overflows with optimism and dares them all to beat his team.

The gentleman in question is 42-year-old Harry Lawrence, a fabled high school coach and now director of the gridiron fortunes of Bucknell University, an institution devoted to scholarship in the mountainous regions of central Pennsylvania.

Lawrence not only considers his Bucknell team good—he thinks it's great. "My team," he said yesterday, "can lick any other club in the east, and that goes for Princeton, Penn. Cornell or any other."

Up to now his Bucknell eleven has been laying waste all opposition, rolling up an average of more than 40 points a game in trouncing Gettysburg, Muhlenberg, Lehigh, Kent State, Buffalo and Lafayette. Against Lafayette last Saturday, the thundering Herd of Bucknell piled up three touchdowns in the first nine minutes.

No Bragger
Lawrence may be an optimist, but he's not a bragger. "I'm a lucky guy," he said. "Our college is as pure as Heaven when it comes to football. The young men playing for me came to Bucknell because they are sold on the school."

But the outspoken gentleman has ample reason to shout his own capabilities, if he but chose to do so. He came here from Baltimore, where he coached City College High school to 54 straight triumphs. Not once taking off from teaching history at the same time.

Bucknell's biggest test comes on Saturday when the Herd takes on Temple University, proudly sporting a five-game winning streak, including an upset triumph over Boston University.

Lawrence, as you might expect, is confident of victory.

The cold and uncompromising statistical records support Lawrence's claim to eastern superiority. His team leads the east in total offense, rushing offense and rushing defense.

There are some in Pennsylvania who say that Lawrence has in his fold the four best backs in the state. Burt Talmage, a junior from Mountain Lakes, N. J., leads the east in scoring with 12 touchdowns and tops the east also in rushing, where he has averaged more than seven yards a crack in 108 plays.

Talbot Gives Inside Info On Louis

By Gayle Talbot

New York, (AP)—Up to now this corner has, with heroic effort, refrained from bleeding publicly for Joe Louis though the knockout of the old champion suffered the other night at the hands of "Rocky" Marciano left scars which will be slow in healing.

The feeling was that those who felt the same way about this once great athlete would not enjoy having the screws tightened on their tender sensibilities, and that those who did not feel this way about Joe, not having known him in his marvelous prime, would accuse us of becoming maudlin.

Money
We tackle the subject at all only because genuinely interested fans—even sports editors—keep asking what Joe could have done with all that money. Just why they can't comprehend how a healthy, generous young animal like Joe can waste through a large amount of Jack in 17 years of serious effort is difficult to understand, but we'll try to touch on a few phases of the so-called mystery of the missing mazzina.

In the first place, Joe didn't get "all that money"; he only got a lot of it. It has been learned within the past year or two that the kind gentlemen who guided Joe past the early pitfalls also took themselves an extra-generous helping of those wonderful purses.

Next, it must be realized that, income taxes being what they are, the heavyweight championship no longer in the glittering prize it was in the days of Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney.

A fighter, getting one or two big purses a year and being swatted heavily by the tax collector is not, situated nowadays as, say, a good baseball player who can spread his payments to the treasury over a great many more years.

The fact still remains, of course, that Joe has sailed through more dough than the average man can dream of making in a lifetime. He has had a great deal of fun, and he hasn't blown the whistle on anybody yet.

Champ
Mike Jacobs, who promoted most of Joe's big fights and who knew him perhaps better than any other "white man," told the writer once that he had known some pretty good spenders in his time, but that Joe was the champ. Joe borrowed $90,000 from Mike for pocket money during the war while he was giving exhibitions at Army camps here and abroad and presumably being supported by Uncle Sam.

"He's the softest touch of them all," Mike said. "Anybody can hit him for a hundred."

In other words, Joe has been an extremely generous, if improvident, man. He has taken good care of his widowed mother and her other children and is supposed to have settled important money on his ex-wife. Undoubtedly Joe has been abused, as for instance by some crack golfers who encouraged him to play $1,000 Nassau.

But all that, it says here, is Joe's business. If he's paying for it now he hasn't asked anyone's sympathy. We don't look for him to, ever.

Equity Case Heard By Judge Davis

An equity case involving a Hamilton township turkey farm was heard yesterday by President Judge Fred W. Davis in Monroe county court.

The owner of the 63-acre farm, Arthur W. Bauman, a dentist, of Haverford, had asked an injunction against the supervisor of the farm, William Wasser Jr., Sciota.

Bauman, represented by Atty. Forrest J. Mervine, had claimed that Wasser had taken some $4,000 worth of turkeys from the farms cold storage lockers between October 2 and 18, and had put them in cold storage at Hazleton under his own name.

Bauman also alleged Wasser or persons acting for him had attempted to prevent the dentist from removing turkeys from the farm to be processed October 21 and 26.

The hearing which began in the morning lasted into the afternoon, with the taking of testimony from witnesses.

A copy of the agreement between Wasser and Bauman, entered as evidence, showed Bauman was to keep the books for the farm, and Wasser was to supervise the operations. Wasser was to receive 20 per cent of the net profits yearly as his wage.

Wasser, represented by Everett Kent, Bangor, and H. G. Edwards, Stroudsburg, alleged he had been denied access to the books, had not been properly reimbursed.

Bauman claimed the farm had incurred debts of $8,000.

Wasser left the place, known as "Bauman Turkey farm," this month, it was declared.

The dentist had asked a preliminary injunction against any efforts by Wasser to prevent the dentist from removing turkeys for processing.

Judge Davis had granted a preliminary injunction. Yesterday he continued the preliminary injunction pending his further decision.
